

Financial Checklist

By: Hazel Jackson
County Extension Agent for Family and Consumer Science

If you become incapacitated or died today, would your family know where to find your financial information? A financial list for the person who will be responsible for taking care of your financial affairs will save you time and money.

This special list should include your social security number, the name of where your bank accounts are located along with the account numbers, insurance policies, credit card accounts and numbers, the location of your will, contact information for your attorney, insurance agent, and accountant, if you have one. Don't try to surprise people with the information. If you are no longer able to communicate with them, they may not find everything. There are expenses incurred when trying to find this information without your help that can be costly to you and/or your estate. If you are interested in more information on how to put this information together, call the Extension Office at 256-2403 for a free copy of the publication entitled "Family Financial Records."
