

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

The reason I am writing this letter is because I am having a real problem with the officials in Rockcastle County. I am not sure who makes the laws, rules, or guidelines for the Social Services, but who ever it is, I would like to speak with them.

The reason for this is because I have two young children and I, along with their father take the best care of them as possible. They are loving grandparents on both sides of the family that makes sure they get everything they need and want. To be quite frank I think it is obscured that just anyone can call and say anything about anybody and they have to explain a total story of their children's lives to a total stranger.

But what really gets me is the fact that they are not stopping point. You would think that after two, three, or even four times of visiting the home and finding nothing there would be someone to stand up and say "look if you can't leave your name or phone number or some sort of proof that such and such is happening you need not to call back."

And furthermore I would like for the person who is calling in on me would at least have the backbone to leave your name or something. I think who ever you are is a coward. You call and call and call but you have not got enough guts to say yes my name is such and such and I saw so and so mistreating their children. If you really think I am a bad mother then tell me or show me some sort of proof that I am. At least have the backbone to show what you are telling is the truth. Spare my children from having strangers come in their home and look at their rooms and examine them.

They shouldn't have to worry about strangers coming into their own home and scaring them. Please leave me and my family ALONE!!!!!!

Running out of patience!
