While both men and women get depressed, there are some differences in the symptoms they report. Men are more likely to be angry and/or apathetic.

Nothing interests Dad, even things he used to enjoy doing. Family squabbles occur more frequently because he is depressed. If he is abusive, the abuse will escalate in intentime he seeks help, he may be addred to alcohol or coatine or whatever is his drug of choice. At this client to alcohol or coatine or whatever is his drug of choice. At this point he has two problems to seve depression and addiction.

There are three types of depression and bipolar disorder. Major depression adopted and bipolar disorder. Major depression occurs in 7 percent of men and 15 percent of women.

Lo diagnose your own depression, ask yourself if you are feeling: sad or empty; irritable or angry, gally or worthless, pessinistic or hopeless, tired or slowed down, restless or agranted, like no one clears about you. Of the control of the Dysthyma is mild chronic depression: While the symptoms are not disabbling, they can continue for years and interfere with happiness and enjoyment of life. Persons with dystymin may also experience episode of major depression.

Bipolar disorder for manic de-joyment of life. Persons with dys-thymin any also experience episodes of major depression. Bipolar disorder (or manic-de-prassive illness) causes mood changes from depressed to manic. When in the manic mood, the person way be overactly, covie-talkative and liava a great deal of energy. He may make unvise decisions during this time, such as unvise business decisions, tomantic spress or unsafe sex.
